

Lisa Hobden

Lisa has over 10 years experience in management and human resource roles. She has held both middle and senior management roles in the legal and hospitality industries, in addition to establishing legal recruiting practices for recruitment organisations.

It is through her breadth of experience that she dedicates herself to the philosophy that “people are the foundation to any organisation’s success” and “investing in your people is the key to success”.

Lisa has been a driver of change initiatives in the workplace including:-

- redesigning corporate induction programs (some including assessment centres);
- designing and launching learning and development programs; and
- introducing and coordinating leadership programs for middle and senior management.

Given Lisa’s broad experience and hands-on approach she fully understands the challenges of the day-to-day Human Resource and Management functions. As such, she can provide assistance and guidance with a wide range of activities, including coaching for performance, recruitment, education, exit interviewing, reviewing and/or developing internal policies and procedures, assisting with the redesign of internal human resource systems, designing and implementing systems that support succession planning initiatives.
